Science

Lewis and Ethan were tasked to label and draw circuits using scientific symbols. You've done a fantastic job!

Look at the circuits below and label each part.

Draw the following circuit using the scientific circuit symbols.

Challenge

Lewis

Draw the following circuit using the scientific circuit symbols.

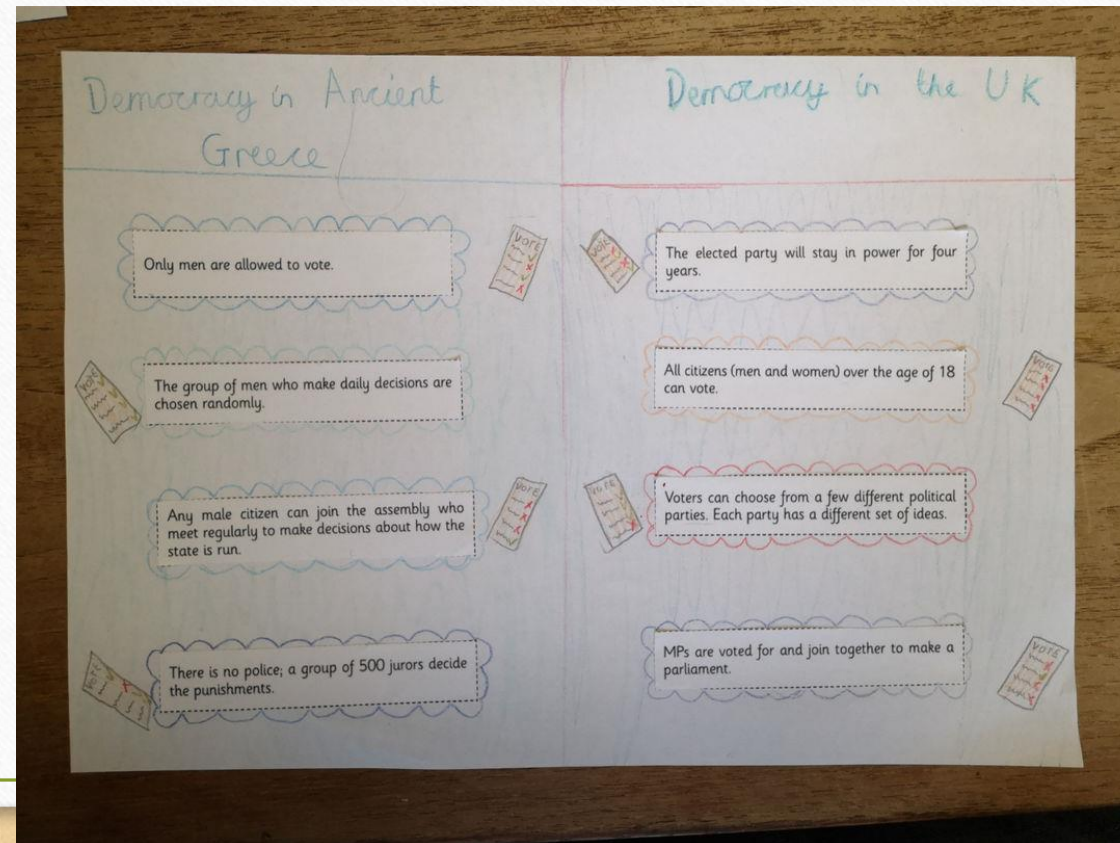

- Circuit should contain: a bulb, a cell and an open switch.
- Circuit should contain: a battery and two motors.
- Circuit should contain: a buzzer, two batteries and a closed switch.

Handwritten student work showing several circuit diagrams with labels like 'bulb', 'cell', 'battery', 'motor', and 'switch'. The drawings are neat and use scientific symbols.

Ethan

History

Lily was able to correctly identify the differences between democracy in Ancient Greece and the UK today. Well done!

Reading

Lucy used the text from our class novel to complete her reading task. Great work!

Points in the text	Points in the text where
Where his Parents treat him as his best friend younger	his parents treat him as his best friend
They call him August like a baby nickname.	"I'm not going to say it won't be a big challenge for you because you know better than that." - she is creating August.
His parents talk in the third lesson and call themselves mommy and daddy which they do to a baby.	August's best friend treats him like he is his age or only even older when she says that he has more when he had surgeries (which is true)
They talk to him about not to him - If they thought he was old and make them wouldn't do this	They give him the choice of going to school - which is a choice that you wouldn't give a baby.
August's dad makes babyish jokes about Mr. Johnson and Mrs. But - which is very childish and they shouldn't really do that to a 6 year old.	They let him do animal stuff that his age would do like sleeping on holiday and taking play dates - He learns this in the story.
They talk about dragons which aren't real and that is what you say to a 6 year old

Art

Katee created some excellent drawings using her pencil to create a variety of different effects.
