Seesaw Highlights

Class 5

Art

Myself and Mrs Peoples were very impressed with the landscape that was drawn by Leo. This is fantastic!

Character Development

Grace came up with some great examples of tricky situations that might make us feel uncomfortable. This is very important for us to understand.

Uncomfortable Feelings

We can experience a huge range of feelings even just in one day! Our feelings can be described as either comfortable or uncomfortable.

In the table below, list any uncomfortable feelings you have experienced or you have heard of. After further discussions, you will complete the next column.

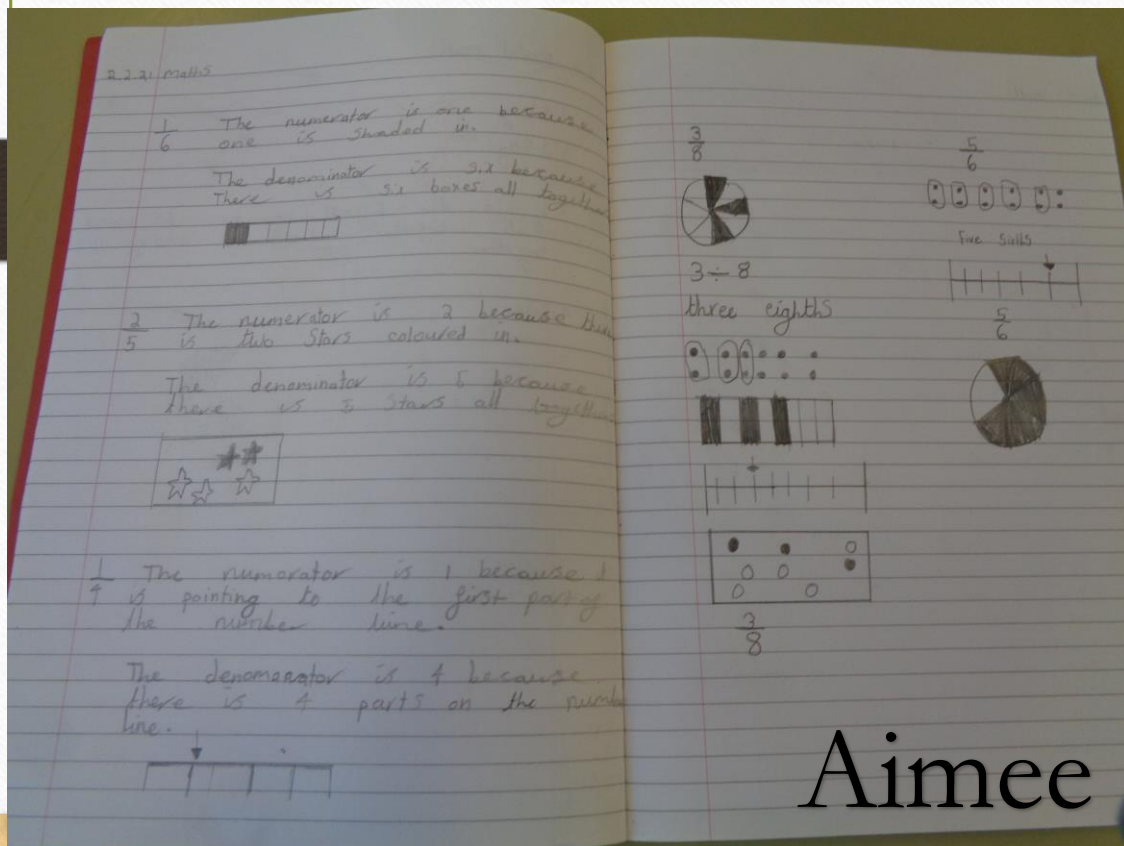

Uncomfortable Feeling	Situations That Might Result in This Feeling
Jealousy.	Your friend might of just received a new gift that you would like and they might be showing off to you that would cause jealousy.
Anxiety.	And event might be coming up that your friend has already gone to they might have not enjoyed it i'll be very scared of it that would cause you being scared which would be anxiety.

Anger.	Anger could be caused by somebody saying something to you which might make you angry with them something happening at school or work or even just when you're trying to explain yourself and somebody doesn't understand that you might get angry or stressed.
Sadness.	Sadness can be caused by many things first of all, it could be caused by a family member or a loved one or a friend passing away or getting hurt. It could also because by stressful times like a pandemic or something going around the world or just stressful times.
Loneliness.	This could be caused by a family going away on a trip or even just going into town and you been left by yourself or your friends moving on or one of your best friends moving school just family friends and loved ones and people you know moving away from you is what would cause loneliness.
Fear.	Fear could happen if you are left alone or like pandemic something is going around the world that you're afraid you could catch or even just if you are at a theme park and your friend is making you go on a ride i've experienced this and it's really scary.

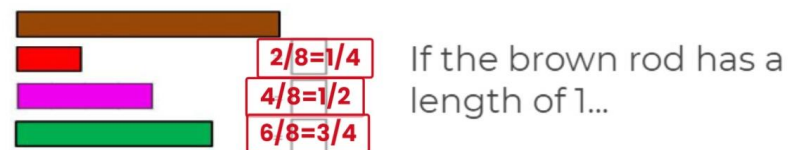

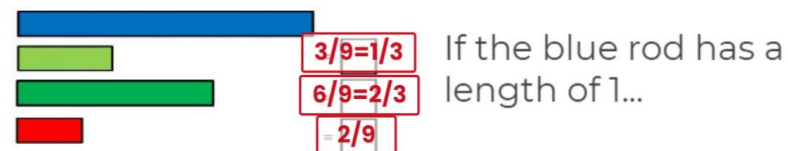

Maths

Danielle and Aimee have been working very hard in Maths and have identified equivalent fractions!
