Communication and Language	Book of the week will be read every day at least once – Across the week children then would begin to join in with some of the words or actions. Staff to pause at times within the book on repetitive phrases to allow for children to continue them. Children begin to give attention to what others say and begin to respond appropriately. Children to follow instructions involving several ideas or actions. They answer 'how' and 'why' questions about their experiences and in response to stories or events. Children express themselves effectively showing awareness of listeners needs. They use past, present and future forms accurately when talking about events that have happened or are to happen in the future. They develop their own narratives and explanations by connecting ideas or events. Listening to and retelling stories Communicating freely during carpet time/ PSCHÉ and child-initiated play Whole class ethos of questioning Following class and school rule expectations
